

AddsUp Savings Program

When you open a checking account at Addition Financial, you are eligible to enroll in the AddsUp Savings Program. This money management opportunity is all about helping you make small, consistent contributions to your savings account. Because when it comes to saving for a bright financial future, every little bit helps.

Program Details:

- The total difference between the actual transaction amount and the nearest dollar amount will be deposited into a savings account associated with the participating checking account.
- The cumulated total of these amounts will be deposited into the savings account at the end of the business day.
- Business debit cards and HSA debit cards are not eligible for this program. The AddsUp Savings Program only applies to point-of-sale, mobile, and online debit card transactions. Recurring and/or automatic payments do not qualify.
